		PRIA Local	Join us for a conversation about how to best utilize PRIA Local to discuss issues with your government and business industry partners back at home. Find out how other PRIA Local Chapters operate, what issues are being successfully tackled, and discuss topics or pending legislative issues you feel require industry collaboration locally. We'll have a roundtable discussion with PRIA Local co-chairs and request your feedback on how PRIA can serve the industry's needs in your community.	Carolyn Ableman, coordinator; Elizabeth Blosser, ALTA, PRIA Local co-chair
		Seeing Success with PIN-based GIS Integration	Discover from first-hand users the value of integrating your Land Records Management System with your GIS parcel map, with access for staff and the public via a live, easy-to-use web application. Panelists will share the process they went through to bring the two systems together, important considerations, and how the final product looks. There will also be time to ask the panelists questions about their experiences of integrating their recorded documents with GIS	Brandon Tourtelotte, Pro-West & Associates, facilitator; Erin Hultgren, TriMin Systems; Tyson Fettes, Racine Co., WI; Sharon Martin, Washington Co., WI

Preliminary Schedule
Date	Time	Session Topic	Session Description	Facilitators/Speakers
	1:40-2:30 p.m.	eNotary and the RULONA Amendment	Where authorized, remote online notarization has transformed how a notarial act may be lawfully performed while retaining the formalities, fundamentals and assurances of notarization that relying parties want and need. Fueling adoption of remote online notarization are model laws including the 2018 amendment to the Uniform Law Commission's Revised Uniform Law on Notarial Acts (RULONA). Join PRIA's panel of experts as they break down the "then, how and now" of the nearly 30-year journey that produced electronic notarization, today's 10 state enactments of remote online notarization, and the 28 (and counting) remote online notarization bills brewing in the current legislative cycle.	Pat Fry, ULC, facilitator; Kathleen Butler, American Society of Notaries; Michael Chodos, Notarize Inc.
	2:40-3:30 p.m.	Dual Sessions
		Reducing Document Rejections	Every document rejected represents a waste of time and resources, and this issue is of great importance to both submitters and recorders because document rejections represent a very real cost to all participants in the recording process. This session will discuss the proposed Best Practices paper regarding Document Rejections.	Chris Stephan, eRecording Partners Network, facilitator; Joyce Mascena, Town of Glastonbury, CT; Kyle Quackenbush, Orange Co., FL; Brian Ernissee, Nationwide Title Clearing; Phil Dunshee
		eNotary Q&A		Pat Fry, ULC, facilitator; Kathleen Butler, American Society of Notaries; Michael Chodos, Notarize Inc.
	3:30-4 p.m.	Refreshment Break
	4-4:45 p.m.	Models of eRecording	A review of a familiar but often misunderstood concept of eRecording models with recommendations intended to encourage even broader adoption of electronic recording, by recording jurisdictions across the country.	Mark Ladd, Simplifile
	6-8 p.m.	LeMan's Karting Offsite Event

		MISMO Technical Guidelines for Remote Notary	Appearing before the notary via two-way audio-visual communication technology, is making quite a buzz in the notary world. Knowledge Based Authentication. Antecedent Identity Proofing. Credential Analysis. What do these terms mean? This session will present the technology recommendations developed by industry stakeholders to boost the confidence and reliability of transactions using this emerging technology.	Mark Ladd, Simplifile
		Electronic Records Preservation	The Electronic Records Preservation white paper has been completed and is available on the PRIA website. Join us for a session that will summarize key points in the paper, help you understand why this issue matters, and give you guidance on how to engage your stakeholders in a conversation about the importance and benefits of developing an electronic records preservation strategy.	Jim Harper, Kofile; Joyce Mascena, Town of Glastonbury, CT
